Inergy Employee FAQ on Upstairs Transaction

1. What was announced?

- As a result of the steps completed on June 19th, Crestwood Holdings has assumed ownership control of Inergy, L.P.
- Additionally, Crestwood Gas Services Holdings LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Crestwood Holdings, contributed 100% of its interest in Crestwood Gas Services GP LLC, the general partner of Crestwood Midstream that also owns 100% of the incentive distribution rights of Crestwood Midstream Partners LP for common units and subordinated units in Inergy, L.P.
- This announcement brings us one step closer to creating a fully integrated midstream partnership with a total enterprise value of $7 billion.
- In addition, as outlined in prior announcements, Bob Phillips, current Chairman, President and CEO of Crestwood Midstream, has been named the Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Inergy, L.P. and Inergy Midstream, effective immediately.

2. What does this mean? Is the merger of Inergy and Crestwood completed?

- As we noted when we announced this transaction in early May, this process will require several steps before culminating with the final transaction, the merger of Crestwood Midstream with Inergy Midstream.
- We expect the final merger to be completed in the third quarter of 2013.
- Until then, we will continue operating as separate MLPs under a common corporate owner.

3. Should we start reaching out to Crestwood employees and working together with them?

- No. Until that final merger of the Inergy Midstream and Crestwood MLPs is complete, we will continue operating as separate MLPs under a common corporate owner.
- We have started the process of integration planning, and we will be providing more information as we move forward.

4. Has the Board of Directors of Inergy changed? How?

- Yes. As was planned and outlined in prior announcements, Bob Phillips, current Chairman, President and CEO of Crestwood Midstream, has been named the Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Inergy, L.P. and Inergy Midstream, effective immediately.
- Prior Inergy Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, John Sherman, and President, Brooks Sherman have stepped down from day-to-day management roles, though John Sherman will continue to serve on the Boards of Directors of Inergy, L.P. and Inergy Midstream.
- In addition to Mr. Phillips, Michael G. France, Managing Director at First Reserve and Managing Member of Crestwood Holdings, has been named to the Boards of Directors of Inergy, L.P. and Inergy Midstream, and Phillip L. Elbert has stepped down from the Board of Directors of Inergy, L.P.

- Prior to completion of the merger, Crestwood Holdings and Inergy, L.P. will designate three additional directors to each of the respective Boards of Directors of Inergy, L.P. and Inergy Midstream.
- The Board of Directors of the combined company will be announced in conjunction with the close of the final transaction.

5. Has the management team of Inergy changed? How?

- Yes. As was planned and outlined in prior announcements, Bob Phillips, current Chairman, President and CEO of Crestwood Midstream, has been named the Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Inergy, L.P. and Inergy Midstream, effective immediately.
- Prior Inergy Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, John J. Sherman, and President, Brooks Sherman, have stepped down from day-to-day management roles, though John Sherman will continue to serve on the Boards of Directors of Inergy, L.P. and Inergy Midstream.
- The executive management team of the combined company, which is expected to include senior executives from both companies, will be announced prior to completion of the merger.

6. Will this have an impact on how Inergy does business? Will our customers see any change?

- No. Until that final merger of the Inergy Midstream and Crestwood MLPs is complete, we will continue operating as separate MLPs under a common corporate owner.
- This announcement should have no impact on our day-to-day operations and we should all remain focused on providing our customers the same high-level midstream services that they have come to expect.

7. Will my paychecks come from a different place? Who do I submit expenses to?

- No. Paychecks and all other administrative activities will not change as a result of the transaction we announced today.
- You will receive your paychecks in the same way you do now, and you should continue submitting expenses in the same manner you always have.

8. Who do I report to? Who do I go to for approvals?

- There have been no changes made to the reporting structures or our day-to-day responsibilities at Inergy.

Forward Looking Statements

The statements in this communication regarding future events, occurrences, circumstances, activities, performance, outcomes and results are forward-looking statements. Although these statements reflect the current views, assumptions and expectations of Crestwood and Inergy management, the matters addressed herein are subject to numerous risks and uncertainties which could cause actual activities, performance, outcomes and results to differ materially from those indicated. Such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements about the future financial and operating results, objectives, expectations and intentions and other statements that are not historical facts. Factors that could result in such differences or otherwise materially affect Crestwood's or Inergy's financial condition, results of operations and cash flows include, without limitation, failure to satisfy closing conditions with respect to the merger; the risks that the Crestwood and Inergy businesses will not be integrated successfully or may take longer than anticipated; the possibility that expected synergies will not be realized, or will not be realized within the expected timeframe; fluctuations in oil, natural gas and NGL prices; the extent and success of drilling efforts, as well as the extent and quality of natural gas volumes produced within proximity of Crestwood or Inergy assets; failure or delays by customers in achieving expected production in their natural gas projects; competitive conditions in the industry and their impact on the ability of Crestwood or Inergy to connect natural gas supplies to Crestwood or Inergy gathering and processing assets or systems; actions or inactions taken or non-performance by third parties, including suppliers, contractors, operators, processors, transporters and customers; the ability of Crestwood or Inergy to consummate acquisitions, successfully integrate the acquired businesses, realize any cost savings and other synergies from any acquisition; changes in the availability and cost of capital; operating hazards, natural disasters, weather-related delays, casualty losses and other matters beyond Crestwood or Inergy's control; timely receipt of necessary government approvals and permits, the ability of Crestwood or Inergy to control the costs of construction, including costs of materials, labor and right-of-way and other factors that may impact either company's ability to complete projects within budget and on schedule; the effects of existing and future laws and governmental regulations, including environmental and climate change requirements; the effects of existing and future litigation; and risks related to the substantial indebtedness of either company, as well as other factors disclosed in Crestwood and Inergy's filings with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. You should read filings made by Crestwood and Inergy with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, including Annual Reports on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2012 and September 30, 2012, respectively, and the most recent Quarterly Reports and Current Reports, for a more extensive list of factors that could affect results. Crestwood and Inergy do not assume any obligation to update these forward-looking statements.
