Item 8.01 Other Events.

On October 31, 2007, the Interstate Natural Gas Association of America (“INGAA”) filed a motion with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (“FERC”) for limited intervention in the proceedings relating to allegations made against Energy Transfer Partners, L.P. (“ETP”) in the FERC’s Order to Show Cause and Notice of Proposed Penalties (“Order and Notice”) issued on July 26, 2007. In its motion, INGAA asserts its position that the Natural Gas Act (“NGA”) requires that an assessment of a civil penalty by the FERC under Section 22 of the NGA is entitled to “de novo” review of the penalty assessment in United States federal district court. This is the same position taken by us in our August 27, 2007 request for expedited rehearing of the determinations in the FERC’s Order and Notice and reiterated in our response to the FERC filed on October 9, 2007.

On October 30, 2007, a putative class action lawsuit against ETP that was previously reported in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission was found by a court to be related to a recently filed second putative class action lawsuit against ETP that makes allegations similar to those made in the first suit, and we expect that both suits will be consolidated in the Houston division of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas. As previously reported, one plaintiff seeks unspecified damages. The other plaintiff seeks $500 million in actual damages and other relief. ETP continues to believe that these claims are without merit and ETP intends to vigorously defend itself in this litigation.
